

4. Contrary to the analysis of Mr McCracken QC, there is no “stand alone” legal duty in the Directive which requires local planning authorities to impose the burden of ambient air quality compliance upon an individual development. To do so would be contrary to the purpose of the Directive which recognises the complexities of managing ambient air quality and seeks an integrated approach to reducing air pollution.